II. Organizational Context

UN Women, grounded in the vision of equality enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations, works for the elimination of discrimination against women and girls; the empowerment of women; and the achievement of equality between women and men as partners and beneficiaries of development, human rights, humanitarian action and peace and security.

On 21 October 2015, the United Nations General Assembly adopted unanimously the Resolution 70/1 “Transforming our World: the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development”. Gender equality and the empowerment of women is at the heart of the agenda, as numerous goals and targets address structural barriers to achieve equal rights and opportunities between women and men, girls, and boys. One of the key areas of concern is the economic empowerment of women. It is expressed in targets and indicators of SDG 5: “To achieve gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls”, and SDG 8: “To promote inclusive and sustainable development, decent work and employment for all”. Progress towards the achievement of these SDG’s, will depend not only on the adoption of a set of public policies by governments, but also on the existence of an enabling environment and active engagement from the corporate sector, which is also relevant for the achievement of SDG 17: “To revitalize the global partnerships for sustainable development”.

About 80% of jobs in the world are found within the private sector. This represents an enormous potential to implement transformative actions in the world of work and social responsibility in favor of women, benefiting the whole society. There is an increasing consciousness, interest, and commitment of private and public sector companies on the value and benefits of gender equality and the economic empowerment of women and its role to achieve it. This perspective includes not only large corporations but also medium and small enterprises.

UN Women Brazil, coordinates the Regional Programme: “Win-Win: Gender Equality Means Good Business”, including the six (6) implementing countries. The Programme is executed in partnership with the International Labor Organization (ILO) and is funded by the European Commission. It contributes to the economic empowerment of women by enabling women's labor force participation and entrepreneurship. It targets women led enterprises and networks, multi-national companies, and relevant stakeholders in Europe and selected Latin American and Caribbean countries.

The Programme promotes business links, joint ventures and innovation between women from both regions, while supporting inter-regional dialogue and exchange of good practices to increase the capacity of the private sector more broadly in the implementation of gender equal business. It thus aims to support businesses, employers, workers, and trade unions to address gender inequality faced by women in the working environment.

2 Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Costa Rica, Jamaica and Uruguay.
Where relevant, the Programme will adopt the intersectionality perspective to address specific challenges faced by afro descendant and indigenous women. Special attention will be given to identify opportunities to increase the economic empowerment of migrant and refugee women.

One of the Programme guiding platforms is the Women Empowerment Principles (WEPs). The WEPs are coordinated by UN Women and the UN Global Compact, since 2010, and provide guidance on how to empower women in the workplace, marketplace, and community. These principles emphasize the business case for corporate action to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and are informed by real-life business practices and inputs gathered from across the globe.

Under the overall supervision of the Programme Manager, the Monitoring and Evaluation Associate, is responsible for providing substantive support for the design and implementation of monitoring and evaluation tools for all components of the Regional Programme. He/she will follow UN Women monitoring systems and procedures and Evaluation Policy to better undertake its duties. He/She will also work in close collaboration with the National Private Sector Specialists of the Programme implementing countries, as well as, UN Women Brazil Programme Officers, Programme and operations staff. Monitoring and Evaluation investments will guarantee the appropriate documentation of the Programme, building ground for its replicability and sustainability after the Programme completion.
